Empathy Map

The following empathy map outlines the viewpoint of a prospective applicant seeking a new credit line. By analyzing the user's specific requirements, worries, behaviors, and feelings, our team aims to design a predictive model that delivers swift, unbiased, and transparent credit assessments.

SAYS	THINKS
• I need a credit card with quick approval. • I hope my application is accepted. • I want a transparent approval process.	• Will my credit score affect approval? • Are my income and documents sufficient? • I hope the decision is fair.
PERSONA NAME Prospective Cardholder (End-User)
DOES	FEELS
• Submits personal and financial details. • Uploads required documents. • Checks application status regularly.	• Anxious while waiting. • Confident if credit history is good. • Relieved when approved.
